Uncle Sam Watching the Mexican Border," Via the Auditorium, For temorrow (Friday) and Satur-day, the management of the Auditori-tion are offering the most timely and tup to date moving picture subject that has ever been put out. The time of the film tells the story, Uncle Sam Watch-ing the Mexican Border, and that is caucily what the film shows. Intimate scenes of teh camp life of 20,000 Unit-id States soldiers, who are stationed along the border. Some interesting features are shown in this picture that have never before been shown, such as he first moving views of an aeroplane when the fighting lines. Fictures also from an aeroplane in full flight and other interesting scenes which

Jim s found by the trappers am Jeanette a adopted by the Indians when dissovered. After ten years, the young ad is captured by the Indians and led to a stake, when the white squaw at talking to him, finds out his identity and arranges for their escape. They steal aboard the old stage that passes on the night, but a great fight takes blace, the Indians being victorious, tim is left for dead, and Jeanette is arried away by the red men again. Swhoys come upon the rifled stage toach, and give chase and another treat fight ensues. This time the paleaces win, and Jeanette is carried to be separated again.

And her straight black hair was denuded of its hairpins and the corsets were thrown away and the high heeled shoes were discarded for moccasins. Then for the first time Wenona breathed freely.

Wenona's years among the palefaces had taught her one thing that the life of the plains could not eradicate—the necessity for money in these days. She therefore availed herself of the opportunity that was this spring presented of joining the 101 Ranch Wild West forces.

So it is now farewell to the plains for a little while, but not for all the year, for though she will travel with the "show" in the summer, winter will find her on the 101 Ranch at Bliss, Okha, living the primitive life that We nona loves so well.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR As a Taxpayer Sees Things.

Mr. Editor: As the city election draws righ, I was thinking of Lincoln's great love for the plain people and how often our mayor reminded us of the fact, and how his love for us was only second to that of Lincoln: and of the solicitude of his so-called executive committee and how under the guidance of both we had prospered and made very great strides toward a taxless city; also, of the painstaking forethought of our illustrious health officer in his efforts to kill the Trading Cove brook colon bacilli, and not have them contaminate the colon bacilli, from Fairview (even if it did take three months to do it); and how cratehave permission to bond our floating indebtedness and vote on the new charter I don't know as there is anything more to be desired unless it is municipal ownership of street railroads and then we would have enough jobs to go around. It is said to think of those who are not able to supply themselves with positions under present conditions.

If we do as well next year as we have the past, it will not be necessary for anyone to love us, for we can just love ourselves; and with all the water that is going from Trading Cove brook somewhere (they think into Fairview) the prospects are fine for the people in high places next summer.

Let the good work go on; and if the new charter works as well as the executive committee, there is nothing more to be desired in that line except perhaps some of the members of the executive committee might lose their jobs and not be required to exercise the great amount of energy drawing their salaries as at the present time, and that would be said, to say the least. Now, taxpayers, don't you think you have had crough?

THE LITTLE HELPER

Sometimes, when all my efforts seem
To be of no avail, and when
My wish to claim the world's esterm
And be the peer of workly men
Has seemed a futile wish, I bend
Beside you where you sleeping ite,
And, as I watch, my hopes return.
And through your trust is me I lead
To keep ideals that are high.

Sometimes, when night's deep shades And all the dripping boughs co plain.

I watch you where you sweetly sleep,
Your trust in me serene, secure,
And, though you do not know, you sweep

My doubts away and let me keep
My faith unsolled, my purpose pira.

A SONG OF ETERNITY IN TIME. Once at night in the manor wood,
My love and I long slient slood,
Amazed that any heavens could
Decree to part us, bitterly repining.
My love, in similess love and grief
Reached forth and drew aside a leaf
That just above us played the thief
And stole our starlight that for us was shining.

A star that had remarked her pain Shone straightway down that leary lane. And wrought his image, mirror plain, Within a tear that on her lash lay "Thus time." I cried. "is but a tear Someone hath wept 'twist hope and feir.

Yet in his fittle lucent sphere bur star of stare, Eternity, is bean-ing."

Oats constitute three-fourths of the food upon which the Russian horse must exist during the 12 months of the year. Russian oats, however, are far superior in sustaining power to the American cereal. It is also claimed that animals do not become fired of this steady diet as they do of the hay and corn products in the United States.

its best, new goods constantly coming in, and we guarantee that whether it Albicore fishing in Nova Scotian waters has become interesting, not only for the sport, but for financial reasons. These fish frequently weigh over 500 pounds and are known as horse mackerel. A number were shipped-to Boston last season. The average price here is 21-2 cents per pound. Formerly these fish were considered a nuisance by the fishermen. is Carpets, Rugs, Mattings, Oil Cloth or Linoleum, our prices are right in

From a report recently received in Paris by the government department answering to the British board of trade, it would appear that the Japanese are in a fair way not only of providing woolen goods for home consuption, but also of entering into competition with Europe in this trade in other eastern countries. This, with a country, which is very little adapted for wool growing, would be an accomplishment quite equal to that acquired by Lancashire in cetter goods.

to be thankful for, because we are getting so much and only paying 18 1-4 mills furnish you the ht kind of help to neutralize and remills tax besides a school tax. As far as I am concerned I would be willing to pay another 1-4 mill and buy a horse for the street countissioner that would stand without hitching. Now that we release the soles daily, rain or saine.
